

Make Paintings with Drinking Straws

STRAW PAINTING

You can make these really cool straw paintings with either food coloring or with paint. If you use paint, just mix the paint with a few drops of water first to make it thin enough to work. First of all, protect your table with newspapers or with something else such as garbage bags. Next, put your sheet of paper down and drip the paint or food coloring down on the paper. Then get a non-bendy straw out and blow at the drops and watch them make funky designs. Let completely dry. An optional step is to turn the funky designs into drawings by trying to see people, animals, and other things in the shapes of the paint.
